National Strengths

Westpoint is the largest veterinary group in the UK specialising in production animals. With 12 practices spread countrywide, we can offer you a unique range of benefits. These will have a direct and positive impact on the profitability and efficiency of your farm and the health and welfare of your animals.

A dedicated local service with the backing of a national group

The group provides administrative support to your vets allowing them to spend more time on farm work and less time in the office.

At a local level this ensures that our vets can really get to know the specifics of your business and work in partnership with you to maximise your profits.

Advice from in-house specialists

Several of our vets are further qualified within specialist fields such as mastitis, reproduction, foot care and farm management. All of our local vets have direct access to these leading industry experts for in-depth advice and support.

Knowledge of the most up-to-date preventative methods, treatments and products

We invest heavily in on-going professional training for all of our vets. This means that they are able to keep abreast of the very latest innovations in the prevention and cure of diseases and can use this knowledge to directly benefit your business.

A real understanding of the farming business and its traditions

Included within Westpoint is our team based in West Sussex which is one of the oldest farm animal practices in the country. We are very proud that such a long established firm forms part of our group and reflects our philosophy of providing a thoroughly modern service based on traditional values.

Fast and efficient laboratory services

Our vets are supported by a highly qualified laboratory team, providing them with microbiological analysis and veterinary diagnostics in the fastest possible time.

Competitively priced veterinary medicines

Whether you purchase directly from a Westpoint practice or through farmacy.co.uk, the buying power of our national group allows us to bring you the best possible prices for your veterinary medicines.
